Round Tablers Attend Wheaton Conference On 'World Peace'

"What the United States Can Do for World Peace" will be the topic discussed Saturday at Wreaton, Ill., when the Round Table groups of Bradley, Wheaton, and North Central meet to hold a collective discussion.

Representing Bradley will be Leo Paulissen, vice president of the Round Table, Mary Ellen Trimpe, Bob Blair, Paul Moon, and Dr. Tipton Westfall. They will leave early Saturday morning in order to make the opening of the meeting at 9:30.

Broadcast Planned

Station WCFL will carry a broadcast Saturday afternoon in which two members from each school will participate. Mr. Paulissen and Miss Trimpe have been selected to speak for Bradley's delegates.

Among the timely points treated will be the causes and historical background of the present war, including the causes and effects of the first World War. The parts played by Japan, China, and Russia in the present world situation will be given full importance.

Discuss Democracy

The groups will attempt to ascertain whether the true issue at stake is a death struggle between totalitarianism and democracy, or whether there is something even more potent, more vital to the future of civilization. Is this war just another war to end war, or will it have an intrinsic value in creating a new world order based on permanent peace, economic alliances, regional police for the enforcement of peace, and arbitrary bodies?

The practicality of a "world federal union" will be analyzed in detail, using Clarence Streit's book of that name as background material. If such a union is formed, how great a part is the United States to have in its organization?

Into what groups will the nations be divided? Will the system be democratic or necessarily totalitarian? The effects of such a union, world free trade, world interdependence and communication, increased police force among nations, and other advantages, will be carefully judged.

Elect Tendick Student Council President

Marion Tendick was elected president of Bradley Student Council in a special noon meeting called a week ago last Thursday in the Wigwam. Dale Thomas of horology was chosen vice president; Flo Neuhoff, secretary; and Evelyn Strassburger, treasurer.

Committee chairmen for the year were announced at the last Thursday evening meeting in Bradley Hall. Chairman of elections is Frances Day; of clubs, Evelyn Strassburger. Heading the auditing committee is Louise Hubbard; the traffic committee, Dale Thomas; the publicity, Kay Keyes.

Bradley Enters 'Foreign Policy' Competition

Dr. Frederic Hamilton has wired Bradley's acceptance to enter the competition for prizes offered by the Institute for National Policy of the College of William and Mary for the best analyses of the factors which will necessarily determine American foreign policy in the coming decade.

In accordance with the suggestion of the Institute, Dr. Hamilton has appointed Dr. C. E. Sipple, head of the history department, as faculty adviser.

The most significant of the essays submitted will be brought together under the title, "The Next Decade of American Foreign Policy," and will be published about the end of the academic year.

Flight Training Deadline Set

All Bradley students who desire to participate in the primary flight training program next semester please sign application list by Monday, December 16.

QUALIFICATIONS:

Good eye sight and good physical condition.

Age from 19 to 26 years.

Ground School — four hours

Flight training — 35 to 45 hours of flying.

Those who successfully complete the ground school and flight training will secure a Private Pilot's license.

Sign list in South Manual Arts office or with Mr. Hewitt.

M & G Play Premiered Tonight

Tonight marks the opening of Mask and Gavel's first major production of this year, Clifford Goldsmith's recent stage and screen success, "What a Life." The play, directed by Dr. Clara Krefting, will first be presented this evening for the students of Manual Training high school in order to test the public reaction.

The final performances will be given next week, December 16, 17, and 18, at the Peoria Players theater. The play tells of the trials and tribulations of a typical high school youth in the days preceding that great event—The Prom. Full of humor and of real life the play is a sure fire hit.

Members of the cast are Jack Brunnenmeyer as Henry Aldrich, Betty Junker as Miss Shea, Alice Ann McCord as Miss Pyke, Lyle Geeting as Bill, Velma Moses as Miss Eagleston, John Morris as Mr. Nelson, Margaret Irvine as Barbara Pierson, Don Lacey as Mr. Bradley, Gene Smith as Mr. Ferguson, and Peggy Lee Richardson as Miss Johnson.

Others taking part include Mary'nette Chamberlain, Lyman Fort, Fred Seaburg, Carmen Dixon, Marian Tendick, Joe Walker, Marvin Carius, Kay Kelly, Margaret Brown, and Elizabeth Hack.

Horology Plays Host From 1 To 5 Today In First Open House

If you would like to see samples of engraving, balance staffs and other watch parts being made, silver melted, and stones set into rings, then drop around to the horology school open house this afternoon from 1 to 5.

This is the first time that the horology school has ever had open house during daylight hours.

Guides will be furnished by Psi Delta Omega, horology fraternity, to explain the work of the departments on the three floors and give a picture of the horology school in general.

The basement floor , which is devoted to jewelry, will show samples of rings, fraternity keys, and other jewelry. The processes in the making of a ring such as casting, plating, polishing, soldering, stone setting, and the rolling of metals, will be shown. Here, silver will be melted and cast into rings, a process which takes only a few minutes.

The making of various parts of watches will be shown on the second floor which is devoted to elementary watchwork. Some of the students' work such as balance staffs and other parts used in watches will be given away. Every watch part is made to measurement and must be accurate if a watch is to run and keep correct time

In the office on the same floor dozens of samples of engraving made by students from all over the Union will be shown along with clocks that have been made by students.

Engraving and trade departments are on the third floor. Advanced watchwork is taught here. Many of the students make complete watch movements here. Mr. Fred Brown is the instructor in this department. He has taught in the horology school since 1902. Recognized as one of the best watchmakers in the country, he is making at present time poising tools which are acknowledged as the finest in the country. He is also making millimeter gauges more accurate than any that are being made in the United States.

The other department on the floor is engraving which will show samples of engraving in all stages from start to finish. Different types of engraving will be displayed on trophies.

A receiving set and a Reifler clock will be shown to visitors on this floor. The receiving set receives correct time directly from Arlington near Washington, D. C. every day. Students set their watches by the Reifler clock which cost $1,500. .

Will Elect Prom, Ball Kings January 9

Kings for the Junior Prom and Senior Ball will be selected in an election to be held the first Thursday after Christmas vacation, January 9.

Election will be conducted by the Student Council from 12 to 1 o'clock and from 3 to 4 o'clock Thursday on first floor, Bradley Hall. All juniors and seniors are obligated to vote.

Candidates must submit petitions containing signatures of one-tenth their respective classes before 12 o'clock noon on Tuesday, January 7. These petitions will be collected in the Registrar's office by Frances Day, Council chairman of elections.

Harvard Professor To Address Chemical Society

The Peoria section of the American Chemical Society will meet tomorrow night at a dinner meeting and lecture hour at the Y. W. C. A. Interested students and the general public are invited to the lecture, beginning at 7:45.

Speakers of the evening will be Dr. Louis Feiser, professor of chemistry at Harvard University. His subject, "Carcinogenic Hydrocarbons," is in simpled language, the study of compounds which, when rubbed on the skin, will produce cancer.

Dr. Feiser and his students have prepared numerous compounds and examples and these will be presented during the lecture.

To Close Library For One Week During Holidays

During the Holiday Recess the Bradley library will be closed for one week beginning at noon, Saturday, December 21, also New Year's day.

It will be open during the other days beginning Monday, December 30, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., and Saturday, January 4 , from 9 until noon.

Books will be charged out for vacation use.

Mask And Gavel Offers $25 Prize For Original Play By Bradley Student

If there are any Noel Cowards or Maxwell Andersons on this campus, now is the time to drag your lights from beneath the perverbial bushel and shine.

Mask and Gavel will offer a prize of $25 for an original play that they can do next semester. The play chosen will be produced as the last play of the dramatic season.

This is Mask and Gavel's first attempt to do any full length play by a Bradley student or one of its members. It is hoped that the experiment will serve as a motivating influence to bring to light the talent that exists on Bradley campus.

Dr. Krefting, head of Mask and Gavel, said, "The play may or may not have music. I would, however, enjoy doing something with original music, too. I want something fresh and original by some student. We (Mask and Gavel) would like to do something that all Bradley would be proud of. If the experiment is a success, which I am confident it will be, I would like to make it an annual event."

The play of no less than three acts must be completed and presented to Dr. Krefting for judging on or before Feb. 12. This date is set so that the play can be read and cast for its production in May.

Please take notice: Mask and Gavel will give $25 to any Bradley student who can write a producable three act play with or without music by Feb. 12.

Pep Assembly Tomorrow

A short student chapel tomorrow morning at 10 will introduce the 1940-41 basketball season. Informal talks will be given by Coach Robertson and Dutch Meinen; and Bootchie Bortel and Kenny Olson will represent the team.

A Pep Talk

Next Saturday night! It's a date a lot of Peorians and Techsters have been looking forward to since Bradley's last game of the basketball season last year with DePaul.

When the hoopsters make their initial appearance Saturday they will be meeting some strong competition in the Iowa State team which has had three wins out of three games played this season—one of which was its sensational 37-36 victory over Minnesota last Monday night.

Coach Robby and the team have been working hard at daily practices this fall in order that they can maintain their past reputation. They are ready to show us some real playing.

So let's see the student body get down to the armory en masse Saturday night—and start the basketball season out to a good start with some real school spirit. The team will do its part, let's see the students do theirs. —IM

Wigwam Trouble

Yes, freshmen, it was like this all the time two years ago—we didn't have any Wigwam to use then either.

This past week has thrown all of us back in those dark times when all we did was talk about having a student union.

Yes, there used to be a lot of talk about getting a student union back then. The alumni association took the talk seriously and, in the face of some criticism, were energetic enough to plan and create the present Wigwam.

We've had the Wigwam for some time now and all of us have appreciated it. What happened last week we do not think was so much conscious malice as it was careless thoughtlessness. The persons involved have made their apologies, and it is time to turn over a new leaf.

We do not want to preach here nor do we wish to make the silly accusation of "gross ingratitude." We are just voicing again the sentiments heard many times on the campus—Thanks to the alums for the Wig.

If, in the future, we temper our gratitude with a little intelligence, perhaps the necessity for closing the Wigwam will never rise again.

More Cooperation Between Horology School And General College Is Favored By Techsters; Approve Of Holding Joint Mixer Or Carnival

As Bradley students trek to the horology building this afternoon for open house, statistics show that Bradleyites favor more cooperation between the general college and horology school and consider the watchmaking department an important part of the Institute.

Results of the poll this week reveal that over one-third of the students on campus have never been in the horology building nor know any of the fellows studying there.

It is surprising to note that among the women, 36% interviewed are acquainted with some men from the horology division, while only 13% of the men voting stated that they knew several or all of the horology group.

	Women	Men	Total
Consider the horology school an important part of Bradley?
Yes	81%	83%	82%
No	19%	17%	18%
Favor mixer or carnival?
Yes	46%	72%	59%
No	54%	28%	41%
Been in horology school?
Never	46%	27%	36%
Seldom	9%	9%	9%
Occasionally	8%	9%	8%
Often	19%	10%	15%
Only on business	18%	45%	32%
How many horology students are you acquainted with?
None	27%	43%	35%
Few	37%	44%	41%
Several	26%	9%	17%
All	10%	4%	7%

With the large majority of students (82%) stating that they considered the jewelry school an important part of Bradley, it is not surprising to find that a majority favored more cooperation between the two schools.

Considering specific cooperative enterprises, a majority voted in favor of holding a mixer or carnival with both schools participating. Many students (about one-third of those interviewed) felt that they would attend such a function, while about half the group were not sure and checked "doubtful" on their ballots.

Less than one-fourth of the interviewees stated definitely that they would not attend such a function. Of the number deciding against attending such a function, most were women, with 27% checking "No" against 9% of the men who stated they would not attend. A greater number of women were doubtful about attending than were the men, too. Qne explanation might be that woman's trait of not knowing exactly where she will go, and the privilege (?) she has of changing her mind (?).

It is apparent, then, that horology is an impotrant part of Bradley, not alone through the testimony on that question by the students interviewed, but its importance is also revealed in the other replies which Bradleyites have seen fit to make to this week's questionnaire.

On The Cuff

Try your luck at calling men fish. A noted professor once divided mankind into several types of fish, the traits deciding his classification thus:

1. The man who always wins at bridge.
2. The guy who pays sorority dance expenses.
3. The gal who has to file her faces to keep track of them.
4. The guy with the hangover.
5. The gal with ten men on the string and hook out for more.
6. The fellow who always has a melody runnin' 'round in his pate.
7. The girl with the heavenly smile and saintly disposition.
8. The net man who sinks the winning bucket as the gun bangs.
9. The man who's just been given the pitch, the bum's rush, the last curtain call.

Answers:
1. shark
2. sucker
3. cat fish
4. blue fish
5. devil fish
6. tuna fish
7. angel fish
8. star fish
9. poor fish

Choir Sings 'Messiah' Tuesday

A yearly campus custom, the student choir presentation of Handel's "The Messiah," will be held Tuesday evening, December 17, at 8:15 o'clock in Bradley Hall. Bradley's A Cappella Choir directed by Cardon V. Burnham will present this seasonal oratorio in a free public program.

Soloists for the evening will be Leona Jones, soprano; Dorothy Newlund, contralto; Robert Meyer, tenor; and Robert Barnett, bass. All are students of Mr. Burnham. Accompanists will be Jean Cravens of the faculty, Dorothy Bischoff, and Evelyn Strassburger.

The program is arranged as follows:

A Cappella Choir
Pergolesi--Glory to God in the Highesst
(A Cappella arrangement by Mr. Burnham)
Wihtol------Now Arise, My Soul
Leontovich----Carol of the Bells
Mozart-Sergei ---------Hallelujah
Excerpts from Handel's Oratorio, "The Messiah"
Recitative, Tenor--Comfort ye my people
Chorus----And the Glory of the Lord
Recitative, Bass--Thus saith the Lord
Chorus.....For unto us a Child is born
Air, Contralto--Oh, Thou that telleth good tidings to Zion
Air, Soprano-----Come unto Him
Chorus--Behold the Lamb of God
Air, Contralto---He was despised
Chorus--Surely He hath borne our griefs
Recitative, Tenor--Thy rebuke hath broken His heart
Air, Tenor--Behold and see if there be any sorrow
Chorus ..... Hallelujah

'Go Down Mexico Way And Sit In Noonday Sun' Is Counsel Of Dale Thomas, Seasoned Traveller; Horology Student Takes Motion Pictures As Hobby

by Clint Eckstrom

"I've got a yearning to go down to Mexico with a few hundred dollars and 'sit in the sun.' A person can live like a king there on 25 or 30 dollars a month except in Mexico City where the Mexicans have become wise and upped prices," says Dale Thomas, horology student, in telling of his many travels.

"Mexico as a whole is more beautiful than the United States as a whole. Mexico's beauty is continuous and everywhere, whereas in the United States beauty is in spots and not everywhere," Dale says.

Dale Thomas enrolled last June, coming from Marysville, Utah. He is president of Psi Delta Omega, horology fraternity and vice president of the Bradley student council. He has been very instrumental in attempting to further better relations between the Horology school and the rest of Bradley.

He has traveled extensively in western United States, Canada, and Mexico. He has been in every state west of the Mississippi and worked in most of them. He has never been east of Chicago.

Dale once leased a gold mine in northern Mexico but it didn't "pan out", because of the difficulty in securing sufficient water.

"Mexicans won't dig for gold but if it's on top of the ground, they will pick it up," Dale said.

Dale has flown a good deal and received his pilot's license at Riverside, California. He hopes to have a plane of his own some day.

His hobby is taking motion pictures, both in technicolor and in black and white. He has taken many aerial pictures from a plane and has taken pictures in Mexico Canada, and in every national park west of the Mississippi except Carlsbad Caverns. He also does trick photography, still pictures, and portraits. He also develops and enlarges them.

Dale has done a variety of things. He attended the U. of Nebraska for three years, worked as an electrician for the biggest copper company in the United States at Salt Lake City, and was a training salesman organizing sales groups for a utility company in California.

Cornfield Receives Bradley Ladybird

by Jean Graham

A cornifeld at Mt. Pulaski—a perfect place for the forced landing made by Media Hicks last week when the plane she was flying ran out of gas.

Taking her first cross country flight alone, Media had reached Bloomington safely and was on her way to Springfield; instead of going west she turned east, missing her course entirely. Some time later, over the city of Mansfield, Media realized her mistake. "Never too to start all over," she thought, and before long Media was back on her course on the way to Springfield.

Btu it wasn't as easy as all that. Now a putt putt of the little motor informed her that she was out of gas. Well, she was hungry anyway, so she picked out a nice-looking corn field and landed. On the ground once more, she discovered that her mistake had made her a celebrity, for photographers and reporters crowded round her. From that point on it was simply a matter of calling the Peoria airport and having someone come after her.

When we asked Media if she minded our publishing her little escapade, she said, "Not unless it would scare someone out of flying who really wants to, because nothing frightening about it. In fact, I've never had so much fun in my life."

Media is one of the two girls in the primary C. A. A. class at Bradley, and is very much interested in flying as a career.

Christmas Tree To Be Set Up This Week

At the all-association meeting of the Y. W. C. A. held in the social hall on Tuesday night, Anne Heideman, social service chairman of the "Y," announced that the Christmas tree will be set up in the main hall of Bradley hall sometime this week.

Beside the tree there will be placed boxes; large ones for toys, and small ones for nickels, dimes, and quarters.

Hilltop Hour To Present 'Messiah'

Selections from Handel's famous oratorio, "The Messiah," sung by the Bradley a cappella choir will be the feature on Hilltop Hour for next Sunday, December 15, over WMBD.

"The Messiah" is an annual presentation of the Choir. This year, the choral numbers will be interspersed with several of the better known solo recitatives, and the entire program will be climaxed by the familiar "Hallelujah Chorus." As usual, the program will open with "Song of Allegiance," the Bradley theme song.

For The Formal Dance Season

Belle And Beaux Don Gay Garbs For Formals

Gay new garb will herald the coming of the Christmas season when the belles and their beaus open the formal season with sorority and fraternity dinner and supper dances in the coming days. Swish new formals have been designed for the approaching holidays by the co-eds, and tuxes and tails have been taken from the moth balls by the eds and spruced up a bit with a pleated shirt front or a maroon colored tie.

Black seems to be the predominant color scheme in the wardrobe of many a co-ed, and black formals seem to be no exception for the Christmas season. Delta Kappa president, Betty Morton will wear black crepe trimmed in rindstones, while black trimmed with gold will fashion the evening gown worn by Anne Heidemann. Margaret Brown will top her black taffeta formal with a kelly green jacket trimmed in gold kid, and Lois Riegel will wear her black velvet dress with a single strand of pearls as the only trim.

Red, orange, pink and blue are also used for the glittering attire of the co-eds. Ida Miller's red chiffon formal will typify the Christmas season while Miriam Scharp's orange velveteen is made little girl style with buttons, long full sleeves and a fitted waistline. Self-patterned pink satin will fashion Gerry Seltzer's Christmas formal. It has a sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves and a fitted waist.

Rich white brocade fashions Lois McClintick's dress. Its trimming is of black velvet, and the jacket which she removes following dinner is trimmed with gold embroidery. Another white formal will be worn by Margie Viegel, but her net dress will be topped by a scarlet red velveteen bolero trimmed with gold and green sequins.

There are many, many more costumes that could be described, for each co-ed promises to look most glamorous and each fellow most handsome. So be ye in tails or in tuxes, in net or in velvet—be ye the proud possessor of orchids or gardenias, roses or carnations—have a wonderful time and look your very best for the Christmas season comes but once a year.

Formal Dances Hold Limelight

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity will hold its annual Christmas formal dinner dance at the University club Friday evening, December 20. Dancing will continue from 9 'til 1 o'clock and Bill Huey and his social committee have engaged Jonnie Dyer to provide the music for the evening.

Lambda Phi Dance

Lambda Phi sorority will swing out with the first Christmas formal dance of the year tomorrow night in the ballroom of the Pere Marquette hotel. Verle Bogue and his band will furnish the gay tunes for the dancers, and bids may be secured from Marjorie Weber or any member of her committee. Come one—come all—tomorrow night—the Pere Marquette ballroom—9 'til 1 o'clock.

Sigma Chi Gamma

December 20 has been reserved by Sigma Chi Gamma sorority for their Christmas formal which is to be held in the ballroom of the Jefferson hotel. Jim Rindfuss and his ten men and a girl will provide the tunes for the dancers from 9 'til 1 o'clock. Charlene Appleby is general chairman of the affair

Beta Phi Theta

As has been the custom for a number of years, the Beta Phi Thetas will open the Christmas dance season with their formal dance on Friday, Dec. 13. The Betas and their dates will dance to the music of Jack Davis and his orchestra in the La Salle room of the Pere Marquette.

The feature of the evening will be the presentation of the lounge lizards trophy to the fraternity member who has paid the most attention to his girl. The last four winner of the trophy are now married to the girl they had with them when they won it.

For the third consecutive week two new men have taken the pledge vows to Beta Phi Theta. The new men are Ralph Olsen and John Diepenbrock.

Delta Kappas Pledge Three Co-Eds

In an impressive ceremony held Monday night, three pledges of Delta Kappa became active members of the sorority at the chapter house on South Glenwood. Betty Morton, active chapter president, conducted the ceremony, and Mary Ellen Chase, Myra Seitz and Barbara Greene were the new initiates wearing the traditional pearl pin and corsage of Cecil Brunner roses following the service.

Parties Held By Techsters

Betty Jane Seabury was a Saturday evening hostess entertaining sixteen of her friends at her home on Columbia Terrace. The party was right in tune with the Christmas season for games, decorations and favors carried out the theme of the Yuletide season, and the evening's entertainment was culminated with refreshments from a table trimmed with holly and mistletoe. Betty Jane's guests included Emily and Margaret Stacy, Olly Mae Albaugh, Betsy and Virginia MacMillan, Imogene Ross, Media Stubblefield, Betty Roelfs, Betty Ann Lewis, Marion Moran, Joan Gedge, Vicki Michel, Muriel Farrow, Frankie Watkins, and Lorraine Gustafson.

Sunday Night Hostess

Cherie Lidle was entertaining five of her best friends last Sunday evening when she invited them to her home on Bourland for dinner before Harry James and his orchestra at the Ing. Jackie Swann, Herbie Wasson, Vicki Michel, Jack Brunnenmeyer, Harlan Berger and the hostess were the Sunday evening celebrants.

Jim Dillon Hostess

Another Sunday evening party was the dinner given by Jim Dillon at the Peoria room. The party was in celebration of Jim's 21st birthday, and the six couples having dinner and remaining for an evening of dancing together, included Eileen Callahan, Dean Arnholt, Betty Lou Stableton, Bonner Triebel, Norma Flannery, Chuck Schlink, Mary Schenke, Val Schlink, Jessie Riegel, Phil O'Connell, Jean Brennan, and the host.

Alpha Pis Pledge Three

Climaxing a hectic night of informal initiation, three pledges of Alpha Pi fraternity were taken into active membership of the Bradley college organization in an impressive formal initiation held Monday evening at the chapter house.

The pledges who attained the high grade point average required for admission into Alpha Pi are: William Ohl, Roland Rogina and Wallace Wrigley.

Shootin' the Breeze
by Helen Schlegel

This week—hats off to the sophomores, clever, smooth, college joes and josies with not a care in the world except for dances and dates. Hats off to Jack Brunnenmeyer for his super-smooth appearance on a dance floor, to Shirley Smith for being our Bernhardt, to Eileen Callahan for her lovely Irish air, to Ann Dooley for her musical laugh, to Agnes Greig for her shining red mane, to Mary and D. A. for being more fun than any couple here, to Regs Hubbard for his matinee idol appearance, to Johnny Monser for remaining true to Lacky, to Carman Dixon for his screwball comedy, to Emily Stacy for being more friendly, to Frankie Hazard for providing entertainment in the Wig with his tussels with Duke, another second year man, to Hope Anderson becuz she's so purty, to Marge Healy and Ray Strand on acount of they're going steady, to Ray Heiden for his smooth clothes, to Shirley Ernsberger for always having every curly red hair in place, to Susie Sprenger for her hearty chuckles, to Knezovich for making himself heard from one end of the campus to the other, to the gal who threw the coke bottle in the Wig last Friday—she must be proud of herself!, to Shirley Moran for her Universal friendliness, to Larry Leonard for his skill on the basketball floor, to Opal Backes for that smooth, little-girl look, to Lyle DeKalb who is sooo handsome, to June Ruppert for her super-intelligence, to Sonny Hunt, the Casanova of the Wigwam, to Frankie Watkins for her generosity, to the committee of sophomores who are working so hard for a dance—good idea!

Good luck to Robbie and the team—I'll see you when we all yell "Hello Iowa State, hello Iowa State—Iowa State—we say hello!" Horrible yell, isn't it?

Lambda Phi Holds Christmas Party

Lambda Phi grand chapter had its monthly meeting at the chapter house last Monday night and the meeting was in the form of a Christmas party for alums, actives and pledges alike. A large Christmas tree decorated the living room, and following games and entertainment, refreshments were served to all members present. Instead of exchanging gifts as is the practice at every Christmas party, the group brought gifts for the new sorority house, which the chapter has recently purchased.

Next Sunday the actives of Lambda Phi are giving a supper spread for the pledge chapter. The party will begin at 5:00, and will be held at the chapter house on Institute Place.

Beta Sigma Mu To Hold Banquet

The pledges, actives and alumni of Beta Sigma Mu will welcome the holiday season with a Christmas banquet, December 16, at the Marine room on Knoxville. Howell Snyder, one of the founders of the fraternity, will give the principal address of the evening on the subject of "Old Betas."

Honor guests at the banquet will include the four pledges who will be initiated into the fraternity after the dinner. All alumni are urged to attend, and may secure tickets from any active or from Bob Burt or Dr. Demore of the alumni.

Cagers Open Hoop Season Against Iowa Saturday At Armory

The Bradley Braves open their 1940-41 basketball season this Saturday night on the Armory hardwoods as they oppose the powerful Iowa State quintet. This "suicide" schedule is one of the toughest in the nation and takes the Braves from coast to coast.

Bradley's five veteran starters will be up against stiff competition in their opener as they meet a team who has already met three strong opponents and downed them in order. The Iowa State boys showed their true strength last Monday night when they copped the top half of a 37 to 36 score from Minnesota.

PROBABLE STARTING LINEUP
Budlofson 18	F	Bortel 5
Smith 20	F	O'Brien 23
Nicholas 22	C	Hansen 21
DeKister 16	G	Olson 24
Schneider 21	G	McCall 18

The Iowa Staters, whose sensational defeat of Minnesota early this week, proves them a strong threat Saturday, have plenty of height and use it to best advantage. Carol Schneider, 6 foot 6 guard, is the main cog in their defensive machine. His height makes him a very good man on the defensive rebound.

The Iowa offensive threats are led by co-captain Gordon Nichols, six foot three center, who has been one of the leading scorers in the Big Six conference for the past two years. This is the second straight season that Nicholas has been honored as co-captain of the Iowa State squad.

Even though all of the Braves' starters are returning regulars, only two of them are seniors. Ken Olson, veteran guard and a member of the "Wonder Five" of two seasons back, will end his college career this first semester as he graduates in the middle of the year. The other senior in the starting lineup is Lloyd "Bootchie" Bortel, forward, and one of the main cogs in the Bradley basketball machine.

The three juniors, Hansen, O'Brien, and McCall, who all were regulars last year, have had that experience so valuable to complete the powerful Tech quintet.

Odds And Ends - -

Golfers After Meets—Bob Leu, captain of last year's Tech golf team, is chairman of the Junior Association of Commerce committee which is lining up a banquet in honor of Peoria's prep gridders . . . Three Big Ten schools, Wisconsin, Chicago and the University of Iowa, have been contacted for golf matches during the coming season . . . Coach Bill Moyle has two impressive schedules for swimming and wrestling which will be released as soon as they receive the faculty approval.

Faculty Bowlers Drop Openers

Two new bowling teams entered the Bradley bowling league last Friday evening, but were downed on their first appearance. The first team opposing the Alpha Pis was made up of the industrial arts teachers. The Alpha Pi crew had little difficulty in toppling enough counters to dim the hopes of the beginnig profs. Harlan Berger rolled the outstanding game for the winners.

A veteran Independent team took over the Bradley hall professors in the opening game of the second round of the bowling league. The profs in their first appearance gave a good account of themselves, but were faced with some strong competition.

Sigma Phi continued its march of victories by taking the hapless Beta Phi Theta five two games. These victories enabled the Sigmas to hold the league lead which they acquired by drubbing the Alpha Pis last week. Homer Barlow was the high man for the winners.

Led by Smith and Waples, the Lambda Chi Alpha keglers made it two straight over the Beta Sigma Mus. With a margin of over a hundred pins the winners had little difficulty in the quest. The losers were paced by Bill Fitzpatrick.

Lambda Phi Swimmers Outpoint Independents; Chamberlain Leads

The Winnahs! It's Lambda Phi and Mary'nette Chamberlain in the intramural women's swim tournament. The Lambda's scored a total of 68 points to give them the first place honors in Tuesday evening's meet.

Winning individual victory, Mary'nette captured 20 points, to top the close scores of Cherie Lidle with 18, Kay Walker with 16, and June Ruppert with 15. The high-scoring Lambda took first in the two-length dash, the dive and the breast stroke judged on form.

Winners in other events included Kay Walker who placed first in the plunge for distance and the one-length dash, and tied with Dorothy Janssen and Cherie Lidle for the best sidestroke form. Cherie Lidle was judged best in the crawl form. June Ruppert won the backstroke with Chamberlain close, while Jane Case came in first in the breast stroke race.

No records were broken in this year's competition.

Placing second in the tournament were the Independents who won a total of 19 points. Ruppert, Jean Joos and Pearl Neumann represented the Independents in the meet.

On the Warpath
by Art Szold

In slightly more than 60 hours, Tech students as well as many fans from Central Illinois and throughout the entire nation, will become acquainted with the power of Bradley's basketball team for the season of 1940-41. Again, as was the case last year, speculations are many and varied as to how well the Braves will fair.

Looking over the chart one sees at least six and possibly more stumbling blocks which the Techsters must hurdle in order to come out with a successful season. The teams that look exceptionally tough as we preview the season are the University of California, of Los Angeles, the University of Oregon, the University of Toledo, the University of California of Berkeley, DePaul and Creighton. These are perhaps the toughest that the Braves meet although Wesleyan in our own conference and Iowa State as a opener will be exceptionally hard to beat. Iowa State, you know toppled Minnesota this week and Wesleyan came close to nabbing an early season victory over Notre Dame's cage five.

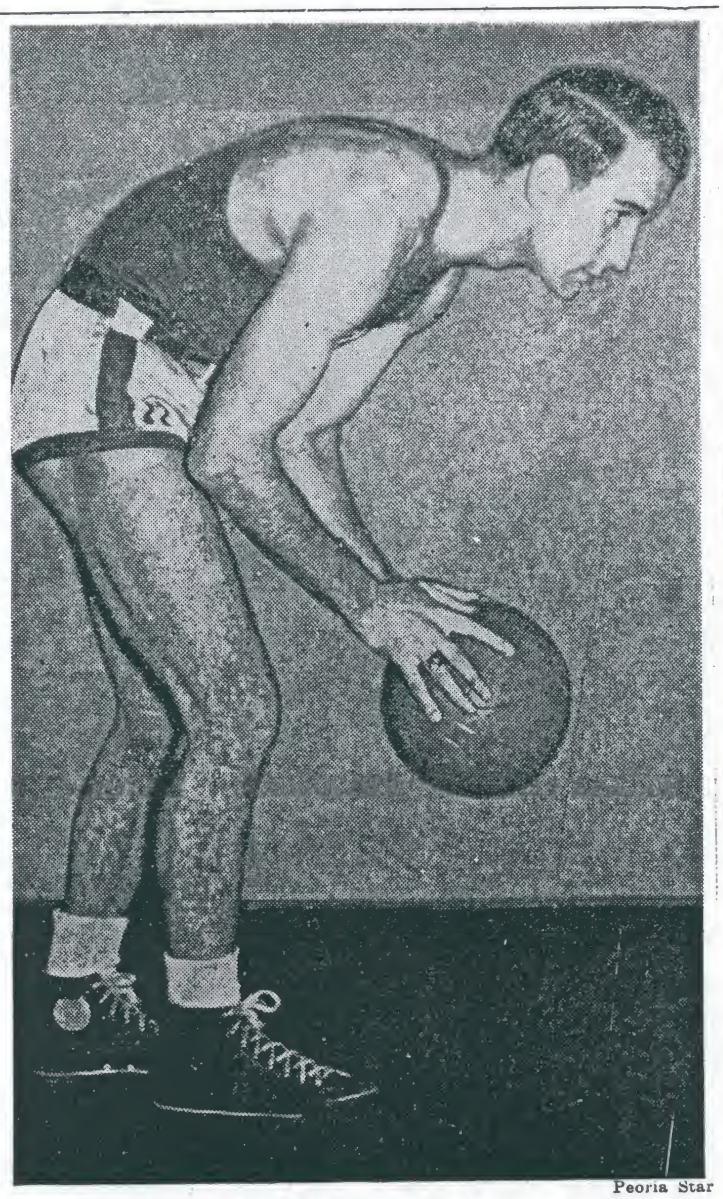
Where Bradley will have the edge this year is in the wealth of experience reserve who saw plenty of action last season. This is no doubt one of the most important factors toward the realization of a successful year and the Braves were woefully lacking in this line last year.

Developments in the last week indicate a time for change here on the Hilltop. With an average football season in the past and the outlook bright for a successful basketball chart, Bradley may well end it's role of the "second placer," and again dominate the state with top-notch teams in every sport.

Last year, you will recall, the Braves finished second in football, swimming, track and golf with only the basketball team nabbing an I. C. C. crown. Last Saturday the athletic department was successful in having Peoria named as the site for the conference track, golf and tennis title meets and so it is that the "go" signal shows for the Braves to come through with togas in each of these sports.

Tech sports fans will also see Coach John I. Meinen's frosh five in action Saturday night against the Karasotes from Springfield. Meinen apparently hasn't as much to work with this year as was the case last season.

Valuable Iowa Reserve



Peoria Star

Fred Gordon, five foot eleven inch reserve of the Iowa State squad is the shortest man on the team. Fred is a good floor man and plays either forward or guard. He won Iowa All-State honors in high school and also plays on the Iowa State baseball team. Gordon is a two letter man in the sport and has proved a valuable asset to the Cyclones.

Teeter, Shroyer To Visit Chicago

Dr. Howard Teeter and Dr. John Schroyer will travel to Chicago tomorrow to attend the National Chemical Exposition as delegates from Bradley.

Fraternity Teams Begin Cage Chart

Coinciding with the opening of the varsity basketball season, the interfraternity schedule will be opened next Saturday afternoon. All organizations entering teams are urged to have their squads ready at least fifteen minutes before game time, in order that the games will run on schedule.

Five teams will compete this year, Sigma Phi, defending champion, Alpha Pi, Beta Phi Theta, runner-up last year, Beta Sigma Mu and Lambda Chi Alpha.

New Students Enroll In Horology

Two new students have enrolled in the Bradley Horology school during the past week.

They are Dick Sather from Vernal, Utah, the only place in the U. S. where the mountains run east and west, and Dean Richardson, from Herron, Ill.

Instrumentalists, Vocalists Give Student Recital

Bradley instrumentalists and vocalists presented an informal student recital at four o'clock last Monday afternoon in recital hall of the Music building.

The program began with two piano selections played by Evelyn Strassburger, the Brahms "Capriccio," Op 76, No. 2 and a Chopin Etude in F major. Esther Baurele continued at the piano with "The Little White Donkey" by Ibert.

An ensemble for French Horn and piano, Beethoven's "Sonata in F Major", followed with Harriet Schweitzer playing the horn accompanied at the piano by Dorothy Bischoff. Margaret Irvine and Swen Wallin sang a vocal duet "Holy Mother" (from Maritana) by Wallace.

The program continued with Jean Chamberlin's rendition of "Sonatine I and II" by Ravel, Robert Meyer sang a recitative from Handel's "The Messiah", "Comfort Ye My People" and the air, "Behold and see if there be any sorrow".

The recital was concluded with "Concerto in C minor" by Saint-Saens, the allegro vivace, andante and the allegro as played by Dorothy Bischoff.

Pi Gamma Mu Sponsors Contest

Judges for the contest sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu will be Dr. Olive B. White, Dr. William B. Phillip, Dr. Clarence Schroeder and Dr. Howard Perkins.

The contest is open to all Bradley students with a cash prize being offered for the best paper on a social science subject.

Short talks were given at the meeting held December 5 by Mary Louise Walzer, Justina Mateef, Clara Miller, Ervin Jackson, Elgin Keithley, Jean Jacob and Willis Ann Weatherholt.

FOR SALE—Tuxedos, Size 36-38; telephone 2-7102.

(The People Speak)

Dear Editors:

Have you ever been inside the Horology building? Do you know anything of the work that's done there? You know it's a part of Bradley, but sometimes we wonder if everyone who's a student does?

Here's your chance. Horology is going to a lot of trouble for a super-big Open House on December 12. They have promised to show visitors wonderful displays, even melting silver and making rings so all can see the process. Sounds good doesn't it?

So, for a bit of adventure, why don't you stop at Horology on your way to Bradley hall on Thursday, December 12 — and prepare to be surprised.

See you there,
Sec. of Student Council

* * * * *

Dear Editor Bodtke:

So patriotism pays dividends? Yes, but in a way that you took little notice of—the uniting of the people of the U. S. for their own safety against any unpatriotic ism.

Of course people are going to make money selling patriotic jewelry but I'd rather see a little money made than a patriotism similar to that which French people had before they were defeated by the Germans.

France lost the war because the French people had lost all faith. They were disillusioned out of their patriotism. They didn't believe in democracy—as practiced in France—enough to fight for it. Selfishness, laziness, lack of team play all co-ordinated to defeat France.

You seem to regard patriotism as vulgar in no uncertain terms. I regard it as a belated sign that we are finally realizing the advantages that our country has over any other in the world. Our patriotism may cost us something but it certainly is worth it.

As for the flag tatooed on women's breasts, I don't know.

French Club Elects Officers

Officers were elected by members of the French club at their meeting held December 5 in social hall.

Joan Gedge was elected president; Jean Brennan, vice president! Helen Schlegel, secretary; and Ruth Kirk, treasurer.

Science Clubs Combine For Christmas Party

A gala Christmas party will be staged in the Wigwam on Wednesday, December 18, for the members of both Epsilon Phi Alpha and the Pre-Medic club.

The party will begin at 7:30 when Dr. Hinckle will speak to the group on medical superstitions and there connection with our Christmas superstitions. Various members of the organization will be prepared to entertain with Christmas acts.

Portrait Presented To Library

Prof. A. F. Siepert has had a fine picture of Charles A. Bennett, donor of the Bennett collection, framed and has presented it to the Bradley library.

The picture will be hung in the Bennett collection room.

Spanish Classes To Hear Talk On Argentina

A talk on Argentina will be the feature of a meeting of the combined Spanish classes tonight at 7 o'clock in social hall.

Marolyn Mackemer, who has lived in South America, will speak to the club.

Several dances and musical numbers will be given by Spanish students. The entire group will sing "Tipi-tipi-tin" and "Ramona."

Student Council Auditing committee asks all clubs to have their books and reports for last year and so far this year ready to be inspected February 1, 1941. All campus organizations with exception of fraternities and sororities are required to submit their accounts for auditing by the Council.
